

GUN TESTS REPORT CARD

Ruger SP101 KSP-32731X .327 Magnum, $572

GUN TESTS GRADE: A-

The adjustable rear sight gave this snubby a big-gun sight picture, and this new round offered plenty of power and versatility in a package that we think most everyone will be able to handle. But the future of this gun may be in the hands of the munitions manufacturers. Its longevity and success likely depends on a suitable variety of ammunition remaining widely available at reasonable prices. If those ammo worries don't bother you, then consider this an A-grade gun.

Ruger SP101 KSP-3231X .32 H&R Magnum, $572

GUN TESTS GRADE: A

This gun is ideal for those who prefer not to deal with the recoil of bigger-bore snubbies. It is accurate and strong and a very good match for frangible ammunition that can add formidable power. It is also a lot of fun to shoot.

Heritage Mfg. Rough Rider SRR32MBS3BH

.32 H&R Magnum, $230

GUN TESTS GRADE: F

We have seen a number of fixed-sight replica "Cowboy" guns with problems matching point of aim to point of impact. Unfortunately, this is a prime example. Somehow the execution of this revolver was fumbled.

Written and photographed by Roger Eckstine, using evaluations from GUN TESTS team testers. GT